Renovations, Expansions and New Construction

With more than twenty years experience in managing museum construction and renovation endeavors, the EDG staff has learned that these are more than building projects. In addition to guiding clients through all phases of planning and construction, EDG can help to prepare for the equally important operational adjustments that come with new or larger institutions.

Project Management

- Project Conceptualization
- Architect Selection
- Design and Budget Reviews
- Construction Bidding and Contracts
- On-site Representation
- Operational Adjustment for New/Renovated Facilities

In-house Exhibitions

In addition to managing and developing traveling exhibitions, the EDG staff assists institutions in developing permanent in-house exhibitions that create sustainability, exposure and financial return.

Exhibition Design and Creative Oversight

In collaboration with Geoffrey M. Curley + Associates, EDG supports the development and execution of new, vibrant, educational, hands-on and minds-on experiences. The goal is to integrate cutting edge technologies, progressive exhibit design and captivating story telling with tantalizing visual, audio and tactile experiences thereby making exhibitions more theatrical, personal and memorable.

EDG and GMC+A recognize the need for unique, personal and tangible experiences within each and every exhibition. Identifying and embracing contemporary learning and entertainment is essential for the success of today's museums, cultural centers and educational events. From the early charette process through the exhibition opening, EDG and GMC+A lead a team of content experts, educators and designers to create experiences that engage visitors emotionally, physically and intellectually.
